Jordan Tyson
Land Manager
Gleeson Homes

Jordan Tyson, a Land Manager at Gleeson Homes, volunteered in a Dream BIG workshop for primary-age. Expressing his desire to volunteer Jordan said:

“I wanted to be involved so I could help bring awareness to the opportunities that can be found within the construction industry in Cumbria. There are many different roles in the industry that a lot of people don’t even know exist. Being an ex-pupil at All Saints School also played a big part in me wanting to help as I felt I could really relate to the pupils, being a local lad who has been there and knows what it’s like to feel like the options can be a bit limited in Cumbria.

The opportunities are out there, people just need to know about them and hopefully I helped just a little in getting that message across.”

“The process was very easy, well organised and didn’t take up too much of my time... I just had to show up!”

“I would definitely encourage others to get involved. It’s a great way to bring awareness to any information you felt was missing when growing up.”
